High Street talks end in angry scenes

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

POLICE escorted a councillor from a stormy meeting this week as angry residents turned on him.

Cllr Guy McGregor was accused of 'arrogance' and ignoring the wishes of the majority of residents, by ruling out the idea of banning traffic from Haverhill High Street, after more than four decades of debate on the issue.

Cllr McGregor left Monday night's police priority meeting after angry scenes developed when chairman Cllr Tim Marks ruled that the debate should end, with some people still wanting to speak.

Abuse was hurled at Cllr Marks, and objectors pursued Cllr McGregor as he left the Burton End School hall, flanked by Inspector Peter Ferrie and one of his officers.

Cllr McGregor had angered residents by putting forward alternative schemes for making the section of Camps Road leading into the High Street one-way, claiming this would reduce the number of cars entering by 60 per cent.

And he suggested introducing 'shared space' to reduce speed and discourage through traffic.

He spoke of plans for a rail-style bus service to Stansted airport and promised a detailed consultation exercise with residents to finally resolve the High Street issue after county council elections in May.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council has allocated £750,000 to enhancing the street and Suffolk County Council will put in £183,000.

Last year Cllr McGregor held a meeting, from which councillors and police were excluded, after which it was decided not to proceed with plans to pedestrianise the street between 10am and 4pm, for fear of losing a costly public inquiry required because of objections.

After Cllr McGregor responded to challenges about localism by saying 'Suffolk County Council is the highways authority, Cllr Maureen Byrne told him: "Your arrogance is offensive."

She added: "Suffolk County Council has a commitment to Localism - where is that support for localism to be found in ignoring the wishes of the vast majority of residents and visitors to Haverhill?"

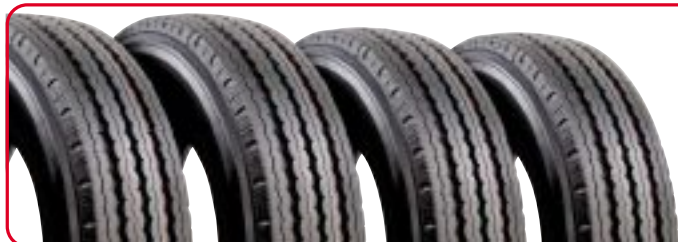

"There is no demonstrable support for a shared space scheme. The air of arrogance demonstrated by Cllr McGregor was palpable. His enthusiasm for 'shared space' fails to recognise that this is what we effectively have now and is failing the town.”

Will Austin, Haverhill town clerk, was loudly applauded after saying that Cllr McGregor’s plans would do nothing to resolve the problem of cars illegally entering the street and parking on the pavements, which was holding back the town centre’s development. He pointed out that 70 per cent of the 750 people who answered a survey last year wanted the street closed to traffic between 10am and 4pm.

He said: “You need to be a leader on this issue, so that our town can grow and prosper, without people having to make a mass exodus to Cambridge or Bury for shopping. We believe pedestrianisation will increase footfall. What is wrong with a staffed gate? You might even get the town council find some funding for it.”

Iain Johnson said: “Since the Chamber of Commerce first raised pedestrianisation in 1974 we said there needed to be rear servicing and nothing has changed since then. We have had a lot of tinpot schemes for the High Street and a lot of police time has been spent, but we are no further forward.”

ARE YOU SITTING COMFORTABLY? Children at the Happy Faces Pre-school listen to Ella Richardson on World Book Day

Author Ella shares her story with children on World Book Day

AUTHOR Ella Richardson thrilled children at a pre-school group by reading from her illustrated story on World Book Day.

Ella, a student at Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill, wrote The Bear and the Bees, illustrated by Lydia Monks, for a competition organised by ITV’s

Daybreak in 2012. The book, now available from online sellers, has a powerful message telling children that it is OK to be different.

Staff and children at Happy Faces pre-school sat spellbound as Ella read, while dressed as characters from the book. Staff had helped make giant posters of

The Bear and the Bees.

Leader Elaine Hatfield said: “The children develop their social skills through play and sharing stories.

“Her book highlights her commitment to standing up for diversity.”

Lamp-H committee chair, Cllr Maureen Byrne, said: “We are delighted to celebrate World Book Day with Ella.

“Her book provides an early introduction to diversity which can be used to shape young minds against bullying and prejudice.”

Turn the lights back on, plead residents

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

FRIGHTENED women who fear for their safety are urging a council to turn some street lights back on in the early hours.

Since Suffolk County Council installed a new ‘intelligent’ lighting system in 2011, most of the street lights in residential areas of Haverhill are turned off from midnight until 6am.

Numerous complaints have been made by residents who fear for their safety and feel they are vulnerable to crime, when homes are plunged into complete darkness. Some lights have been turned back on at the request of the police.

At Monday night’s police priority setting meeting, several impassioned pleas were made for at least one street light to be switched back on in dark areas.

Town councillor Clive Turner said he was upset that Cllr Guy McGregor of Suffolk County Council had left the meeting before he could raise the case of a nurse from Addenbrooke’s Hospital, who is too fearful to be dropped off by taxi near her home off Chimswell Way, Haverhill, in the early hours.

He said: “She finishes her shift at 2am and rather than walk the 200 yards from where the taxi drops her to her home, she sleeps on a couch because she is so frightened of what could happen in that 100 yards.

“She has been suffering from anti-social behaviour in the pitch dark, not for months but more like years.”

Sue Jenner, who works for the prison service, said she was concerned for her own safety and that of her children when returning to her home in Castle Walk, Haverhill.

She said: “I have had my car vandalised four times and there is absolutely nothing the police can do about it.

“I was told to get a camera, but it would have cost me £2,000 to 3,000. It makes no sense, we don’t have the police we need, yet the lights get turned off.

“I have to come home at 11.30pm and it is black out there, you cannot see a thing.

“If it is about funding, I would rather give up other things and have a light on... it is common sense to turn the lights back on and keep us safe.”

Jacqueline Stewart said: “My house was broken into at 3am. I spoke to the police about getting a light put on and they said there was nothing they could do about it.

“We are trying to move on, but it is ruining our lives.

“Even just one light switched back on would help.”

Inspector Peter Ferrie, Haverhill’s police sector commander, has previously said the lack of lighting on residential estates in the town was affecting his officers’ ability to catch criminals.

Suffolk’s new police commissioner Tim Passmore said although had no power on the issue, he would press for some lights to be turned back on.

ON THE MOVE: Patron Dr Hermann Hauser joins staff moving into the new Cambridge home of the Centre for Computing History

Computer museum moves to new home

A COMPUTER museum has finally moved to a new home after a two-year search for the right premises.

The Centre for Computing History, which started in Haverhill, will provide Cambridge – where so many ground-breaking technological discoveries and inventions have been made – with a dedicated computer museum.

Located just off Coldhams Lane, the building will provide storage as well as display areas.

Although there is still a considerable amount of fundraising needed and lot of hard work ahead to transform the exhibition space, the lease has been signed and the team behind the initiative is delighted.

A new fundraising campaign was also launched to get the £128,000 needed to bring the building up to sufficient standard to open its doors to the public, hopefully in time for the schools' summer holidays.

Dr Hermann Hauser said: "We all recognise that computers have transformed the world we live in.

"To enable coming generations to understand how it has all happened there has never been a more appropriate moment for a museum of this nature here in Cambridge.

"The city is at the heart of the UK's, if not Europe's, leading technology cluster.

"As such it has played – and continues to play – a vital role in the history of computing."

Motorists warned to lock their vehicles

MOTORISTS are continuing to leave property on show and vehicles unlocked, prompting another spate of thefts.

Police are reminding motorists to remove belongings and lock up, after a wallet and mobile phone were stolen from an insecure Renault Traffic van. It was parked in Parkside, Haverhill between 12.30pm and 12.40pm on Monday.

Officers want to trace four youths seen running away from the van.

One was a white man, between 16 and 17 years old, around 5ft 5in tall, of slim build and wearing a black hooded top and a black beanie type hat. The other three youths were of a similar age, height and build; one was wearing a grey hooded top, one a brown hooded top and one a white hooded top.

A van was broken into while parked in nearby Bishops Close, Haverhill between 11am and 12.25pm last Friday. Two windows were smashed and a Samsung Galaxy tablet and Tom Tom sat nav stolen.

Anyone who has information about the group of youths or the theft, should contact Suffolk Police on 101.

Man raped girl 'up to 40 times' court told

A FORMER St John Ambulance Superintendent has been accused of raping a schoolgirl on as many as 40 occasions.

Anthony Farrant, 51, is alleged to have attacked the teenager on a regular basis over a three-year period, Ipswich Crown Court was told.

Farrant, of Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, is also accused of sexually abusing the girl, who cannot be named for legal reasons, indecently at an address in the town.

The allegations came to light when the girl spoke to a school friend about self-harming problems she was experiencing and said she was trying to make herself less attractive to Farrant.

Lori Tucker, prosecuting, said when

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

speaking about Farrant to her friend, the girl had referred to him as 'Suspect A'.

Ms Tucker told the jury that following his arrest, Farrant had denied that any of the alleged offences ever took place.

He has pleaded not guilty to six charges of rape, three of oral rape, two of assault by penetration and one of sexual assault.

Eight of the rape offences took place at a house in Haverhill and one in a lane in the town, Ms Tucker said.

Members of the jury watched a 90-minute DVD recording of a police interview with the girl in which she detailed her allegations against Farrant.

The girl said that on some occasions when she was raped by Farrant, he had not used a condom. At times he became angry, grabbed her by the hair and pinned her down by the wrist.

The girl claimed that Farrant had warned her that if she told anyone about what he had done, he would have her sectioned as being mentally unstable.

While Farrant faced nine charges of rape, it was alleged that he had raped the girl on between 30 and 40 occasions on an increasingly regular basis, Ms Tucker told the jury.

The trial continues.

Spring clean fortnight volunteers needed

VOLUNTEERS are needed to spruce up their local streets during Spring Clean Suffolk fortnight.

The annual campaign runs from Monday, March 25 to Sunday, April 7.

By organising or participating in a local clean-up

It is also an opportunity to meet new people and engender community spirit.

The West Suffolk Waste and Street Scene Services team will provide organisers across St Edmundsbury with litter pickers, refuse sacks and disposable rubber gloves and arrange for the collection and disposal of the rubbish collected.

Anyone wishing to organise a litter pick should contact the waste team at St Edmundsbury Borough Council on (01284) 757320.

The campaign is part of a bid to make Suffolk Britain's greenest county.

TRAGIC: Five-year-old Lara Lewis, who died with her grandfather Brian O'Dwyer on a Portugese holiday

Granddad drowns trying to save tot

A BRAVE grandfather drowned as he tried in vain to save his 5-year-old granddaughter, an inquest heard.

Brian O'Dwyer, 66, of Mill Hill, Weston Colville, ran into strong waves after little Lara Lewis ran into the water off a Portuguese beach.

Mr O'Dwyer's wife, Jill, and their four-year-old grandson watched in horror as both were taken by perilous waters.

In a statement read out at their inquests at North London Coroner's Court on Tuesday, Mrs O'Dwyer said: "At a certain stage, my granddaughter ran towards the water. The sea was rough and my granddaughter was taken by the water.

"My husband attempted to rescue her but was unable to and as a result got into difficulties himself.

"I tried to enter the water but was forced back by a wave.

"I looked around for help and waved frantically but I don't remember anything after that as I must have fainted."

Mr O'Dwyer, described in court as a chief executive for agriculture, and his granddaughter were caught in the rough sea of Praia do Salgados beach, in western Portugal, on August 21 last year.

Fisherman Antonio Ribelo raised the alarm after finding the couple's grandson wandering on the beach.

He said: "I noticed a little boy crying for his mother. I took the boy towards the south to see if we could see anyone."

While searching for the boy's parents, Mr Ribelo noticed Mrs O'Dwyer on the shore.

He said: "Further south there was a person lying in the sand and I ran towards that person.

"Something was not right, and then I noticed a body floating in the sea. Then I saw another body, which looked like that of a child, where the waves were breaking."

Mr Ribelo rushed to pull Lara from the sea and a fellow fisherman dragged Mr O'Dwyer on to the sand.

He said Mr O'Dwyer showed no signs of life and he focused his revival efforts on the girl until paramedics arrived.

The inquest heard red flags were flying on the beach on the day of the incident.

The O'Dwyers and their grandchildren were around 400 metres outside the cordoned off safe swimming area when Lara ran unexpectedly towards the sea, at about 1.30pm.

Portuguese investigator Manuel Jorge Mesquita da Fonseca said: "We found the bodies on the beach which had been retrieved from the sea with no signs of life.

"Even those resuscitating using advanced life support techniques for 45 minutes got no response."

Both were pronounced dead at 2.47pm.

Mrs O'Dwyer, who was treated for shock, initially believed her grandson had also been swept into the sea when she collapsed and fainted.

Coroner Andrew Walker recorded a verdict that Lara, of Lower Clapton, east London, and Mr O'Dwyer, both died accidentally from drowning.

Plans unveiled for new care home

PLANS for a new care home for the elderly will be unveiled at a public exhibition this week.

Care UK, the company which has taken over 10 care homes and 10 well-being centres from Suffolk County Council, has pledged to spend £60 million replacing them, including the existing 35-bed Place Court home in Camps Road, Haverhill.

The company plans to build a new 60-bed residential home and a well-being centre for day care services on the former Chalkstone Middle School site off Millfields Way.

Last year more than 4,000 people signed a petition organised by Haverhill Town Council to save Place Court from closure.

A public exhibition will be held at Haverhill Library in Camps Road from 2pm to 6.15pm today.

The company says concerns raised will be addressed before planning consent is sought.

Chris Hopkinson, regional operations director, Care UK, said: "We know some people in Haverhill have been concerned about the future care and services for older people in the town so we are very pleased to be able to present our plans.

"The new care home and wellbeing centre will provide additional levels of nursing and specialist care compared to what Place Court currently provides."

Cllr xxxxxx Noble, cabinet member for health and adult care at Suffolk County Council said: "I would urge everyone to go along and look at the plans and give their views to make sure the best possible facilities are delivered for Haverhill."

Work is due to start on the new home in September, with it planned to open in September 2014. Place Court will then close.

Help put the flags out at felt workshop

A CHANCE to learn the ancient art of felt making is on offer at two forthcoming workshops.

They are part of Haverhill Town Council's Flag Festival, which will see Haverhill town centre bedecked in flags, pennants and bunting this summer.

The first workshop will consist of making an individual piece of felt to learn the techniques, the second making colourful bunting embellished with beads and sequins and based on a theme of butterflies and flowers, to be used to decorate the Arts Centre.

The workshops will be held between 10am and 3pm on March 23 and April 4 at Haverhill Arts Centre. They are open to both adults and children, under 12s must be accompanied. Book on (01440) 714140.

FLAGS: Help put the flags out by getting creative at felt making workshops at Haverhill Arts Centre

Scouts and Guides launch £130K appeal for new HQ

SCOUTS and Guides have launched a £130,000 fundraising campaign to replace their worn-out buildings.

The Haverhill Scout and Guide Association's buildings in Colne Valley Road are in a sorry state, with youngsters banned from running in one hut, damp affecting a second portable building and the Guides, Brownies and Rainbows meeting elsewhere.

Several bids have been made for Lottery funding, but have all been unsuccessful, despite the fact that the group keeps hundreds of youngsters occupied and has done for more than 20 years.

The association is raising the funds to replace and install toilets in one building first, it will then move on to the second and phase three will involve replacing the kitchen and toilet block which will be connected to the huts for the first time.

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Parent volunteer Claire Sutton said: "It will just be so much better.

"The Beavers are restricted with their activities inside which isn't so bad in the summer but in winter, they have to be contained a little bit more. So once they get a proper building they will be able to go back to doing all the things Beavers should be doing."

The plan is for all the groups in the association, which also includes Cubs, Scouts, Sea Scouts and Explorers, to hold their meetings at the revamped Colne Valley Road site.

The association hopes the buildings could be used by the community when they are not occupied by the youth groups.

They already have about £30,000 available for the project and they are kicking off their fundraising efforts with an Easter egg hunt on Saturday, March 23.

Mrs Sutton, whose sons Oliver, 6, and Jack, 10, are members of the Beavers and Cubs respectively, said: "Although it's a large target, the aim is to start with one hut and hopefully once we start the work more people will get behind it because they will be able to see the progress."

Ideas for raising more of the cash include monthly car boot sales and a fireworks party.

The Easter egg hunt is taking place at their Colne Valley Road site between 11am and 1pm.

Admission for the first child costs £3 and entry for each additional youngster costs £2.

Every hunter is guaranteed an egg and refreshments will be on sale.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Police issue reminder after theft from van

A SATCHEL containing an iPad was stolen from a parked van.

Police in Haverhill are appealing for information about the incident, which happened some time between 10.30am and 1pm on Tuesday.

The Nissan Prima van was parked in Recreation Road, Haverhill, when it was entered and the satchel taken from inside.

It is the latest in a spate of thefts from vehicles in the town during the past two weeks, many where items were left on show.

This has prompted Haverhill police to remind motorists to remove valuables and always lock up their cars, even when only leaving them for a short time.

Anyone with information about this incident should call PC Daniel Aston at Haverhill Police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Research Park update at business meeting

AN UPDATE by the developer of a new research park which could create hundreds of new jobs is on offer at a business meeting.

Nic Rumsey, director of Carisbrooke Investments and owner of the Days Inn Haverhill, will be guest speaker at the bestofhaverhill meeting.

He will provide a candid update on the Haverhill Research Park, where work to put in roads and infrastructure began last November.

There is also consent for 150 new homes, a hotel, pub/restaurant and creche on the site. An Innovation Centre is also planned, but funding is needed for this.

The meeting at Days Inn is from 10am to 11.30am on Thursday, March 21. To attend, email haverhill@thebestof.co.uk or call Elaine on (01440) 710158 by Tuesday to book your place.

Wind turbine planned

PLANS to put up a 78m wind turbine at a prominent site on the outskirts of Haverhill have been received by planners.

The application from James Sills is for land south-east of Haverhill Road and south of Hazel Stub, at Nosterfield End, and has been received by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The plan also includes creating a sub station, hard standing and access track to the site.

It's the rates that are killing the high street

I HAVE lived in Haverhill all my life and am quite happy living here but over the last three to five years the town centre has disappeared. I will admit I only do my food shopping here because you can't get much else here.

There is nowhere to buy teenage clothes or sports wear. Sport is very popular in the town; there are a lot of runners, cyclists and people visiting a gym, not to forget children doing sport, and you cannot buy sportswear or trainers anywhere.

There are not many places to buy adult clothes.

I think maybe a Next and Primark (which the teenagers love) or Matalan would be good in the town plus a decent sports shop and bring back a larger New Look. It is the cost of the rates that is killing the high street.

I don't think designer shops are needed as people don't have the money for these; they need to be everyday clothes at reasonable prices.

There is nowhere for young children or teenagers to go, no youth centre or discos (as they were called). My memories as a teenager in Haverhill were youth centre discos every Friday night, somewhere to go with your mates and have a dance and a soft drink or just hang out and meet people.

I think an internet cafe would be good in the town centre for young and older people who may not have a computer at home or somewhere to go and hang out with your mates and go online.

I believe these are the views of many other people in the town and hope something happens soon.

Regrettably, I can have no grumbles . . .

IT'S been confirmed that I am in the year of achieving 'Grumpy Man' recognition.

It has been a title that is long over due.

However over recent weeks I have to confess that I was actually looking forward to having a good old grump due to my concerns with icy roads and snow. Sadly the gritter people have been absolutely brilliant.

Yes, I know they are only doing their job but roads have been regularly targeted and traffic has been moving with relevant ease.

So it is with grumpy regret that I

Karate club members show off their skills and raise charity cash

MEMBERS of a karate club showed off their skills – and managed to raise £300 for a cancer charity. The Chalkstone Karate Club, based in Haverhill, held an open evening at which it raised £300 for Cancer Research UK. Club members demonstrated various karate and self-defence techniques in front of an audience made up of family and friends. These included defending an attack from a knife and breaking concrete blocks. A raffle was also held, with prizes including a custom made cushion depicting two karate practitioners. The club received a certificate from the charity marking its donation and instructor Mark Ashwod and assistant instructor Mark Ashwood took it along to show the members. The club teaches Shotokan Karate and self-defence with experienced instructors, in a small friendly club established for more than 25 years. The club is a member of SAFEchild and Sensei (instructor), Steve Hart, has been a member since 1987 and won his first black belt (shodan) in 1992, his second black belt (Nidan) in 2008 and third (Sandan) in 2011. The club welcomes prospective students of all ages from 7 years upwards and meets at Chalkstone Community Centre in Strasbourg Square, Haverhill, on Tuesdays from 7pm and welcomes new members. For more information call Steve Hart (instructor) on 07747 063981 or visit www.chalkstonekarateclub.co.uk.

THE English Language and the Suffolk Dialect by Charlie Haylock.

Charlie Haylock is a leading raconteur of Suffolk folklore. He is a successful author and broadcaster, famous locally for his in-depth knowledge of the language spoken and the historical reasons for its development.

Having listened to the amusingly refreshing stories told to him by his parents and grandparents, he told us of his enthusiasm as a young man to set up home close to his ancestral family roots. He discovered the local social history of many invading forces, Romans, Vikings, Saxons and Angles modifying and adding to language with variations in dialect. For example, in Saxon areas the letters 'Y' would be pronounced 'G' and 'G' as 'W', giving us words now like Royal and Regal, Guardian and Warden.

His welding together of ancient dialects and the antics of his own ancestors provided us with a humorous and graphic account of Suffolk life and language.

Charlie Haylock has a dynamic 'presence', having his audience in stitches right from the start, his extraordinary talent of dialect mimicry coupled with sharp wit and subtle observation is spellbinding, changing effortlessly from faultless Geordie, Brum, Broad Australian, to the faster Glaswegian and London dialects. A thoroughly enjoyable experience for all!

The next meeting on March 26 is the AGM, followed by a short talk by Claire Putterill on 'Protecting your Assets'.

Comic Relief show is given a retro TV style

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

VINTAGE television sets seen by millions of viewers in the Let's Dance for Comic Relief show were provided by a Haverhill company.

The team at Pure Energy watched each episode with a degree of pride, having contributed to the retro style of this year's decor.

The company was delighted to help the charity by supplying, free of charge, a selection of vintage television sets.

Celebrating 25 years of Red Nose Day, the organisers of Comic Relief introduced an eighties theme to this year's event.

Viewers of the final episode of Let's Dance for Comic Relief might catch more than a glimpse of the vintage televisions.

Many people know Pure Energy as a web design and hosting company in Haverhill, but over the past 3 years the team have been developing a subdivision that specialises in supplying technical props for the television and film industry.

Pure Energy managing director Jason Fitzpatrick said: "We were delighted to be asked to do our bit for this very worthwhile charity and we pulled together every working set we had available for the show."

Specialising in technology from the last 40 years, including TVs, radios, telephones, toys, games, mobile phones, calculators and computers, the company holds one of the best collection of vintage consumer electronics in the UK, and most of the items work.

In addition to its unique collection of props, the company's skills include technical expertise, design experience and historical knowledge, which ensures they can solve most creative problems.

Often asked to advise on the suitability and timeframe of props and even on occasion to provide a spokesperson to wax lyrical on camera, they describe themselves as "a bunch of geeks who loved and lived in the 60s, 70s, 80' and 90s and have hoarded everything they picked up along the way".

Having pioneered the use of vintage TV equipment, Pure Energy TV and Film Props are particularly thrilled to see retro TVs being used in such a high profile way and for such a good cause.

Mr Fitzpatrick added: "We are all old enough to remember the equipment we used to view the live television extravaganza of the first Red Nose Day in 1988.

TIED UP: Jason Fitzpatrick of Pure Energy has done his bit for Comic Relief

"It's great to see those old TVs appear again 25 years later. We love the challenge of making old and new technology interface in wonderful ways."

Whose is this jewellery box?

FOUND: Police hope to trace the owner of this distinctive jewellery box

A DISTINCTIVE jewellery box has been found in Haverhill and police are hoping to reunite it with its owner.

An image of the box has been released in the hope someone may recognise it.

It was found beside the A143 on Monday, March 4. It is metal in a dark gold colour with a sunburst design on the top and officers believe it could be stolen.

Anyone who recognises the box should contact PC Lesley Brown at the Bury St Edmunds Police Station on 101.

NOSEWALK: Red nosed walkers leaving the Cavendish pub

Meet the Red Nose walkers

RED nosed walkers from a recruitment company walked from the pub to their offices to boost the Comic Relief Fund.

The team from 1st Stop Recruitment completed the 10-mile walk from the Five Bells pub in Cavendish to their offices in Jubilee Walk, Haverhill, on Saturday. Thanks to generous support from clients, family and friends, they raised £400.

New set of police priorities

IMPROVING traffic flow at a bottleneck, stopping parking on verges and pavements, plus keeping lorries out of residential streets, are new priorities set for a town's police officers.

At Monday night's Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team meeting it was agreed the priorities should be adopted for the next three months, after they attracted the most votes from the public.

Joint top were parking and traffic flow issues in School Lane, Haverhill, and a blitz on illegal parking across the town. The third priority was lorries using residential streets Duddery Hill and Hamlet Road, causing traffic chaos and disturbing residents.

Peter Freestone, 82, said: "I have lived in School Lane for 52 years and we have had all kinds of chicanes put at the bottom there, but the traffic is atrocious. It stops the traffic flow coming out of the town and it just backs up right down the road. It is just chaos and it is almost impossible to get in or out of School Lane."

Chris Cullum said: "I think we need a joint exercise with partners regarding people parking on pavements and grass verges, because it is getting out of hand. No-one is enforcing these restrictions and I think we need to stamp it out. It is a nightmare for people with pushchairs or wheelchairs."

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Other residents said huge lorries were coming past their houses from the town's industrial estate.

Previous priorities were not continued after Inspector Peer Ferrie said the hunt for a prolific offender would continue and all his officers were on the look out or him.

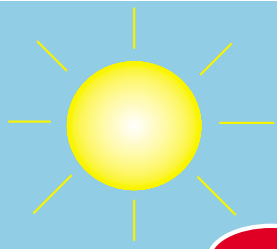

Tackling criminal damage and anti-social behaviour in Clements Drive was ongoing, with Havebury Housing also helping.

Zebra crossings were another priority and Simon Curl from Suffolk County council said lighting would be improved at the crossing in Withersfield Road, as well as improvements to others in the town.

Your Homesnow Guide to Moving Home

Moving home can be a complicated business and in the hectic run up to the big day it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Homesnow team offers their readers this handy checklist to help avoid any major pitfalls. We suggest you tick them off as you go....

www.homesnow.co.uk

1 4-2 WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – start packing and sorting through your belongings. Now is a good time to de-clutter and pack items rarely used. Make sure you have plenty of sturdy boxes, bubble wrap and sticky tape.
- ☐ Removal companies – get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Insurance – check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Utilities – make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move. Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Telecommunications – Notify your telephone and broadband provider and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone and broadband facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Post – Look into re-directing your post for a few months to make sure you receive all relevant correspondence.
- ☐ Children – Look into the possibility of your children, especially young children, staying with family or friends on the day of the move.
- ☐ Pets – Make arrangements for any pets to be booked into a cattery or kennels if required. Having your pets microchipped is a good idea and if already microchipped, have the address changed to your new one. Your vet can advise on this.

2

Change of address – tell companies and organisations that you are moving!

Notify:

- ☐ Employer
- ☐ Inland revenue
- ☐ Local council
- ☐ Banks or Building Societies
- ☐ Credit companies, store cards & other accounts
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and water boards
- ☐ Insurance companies
- ☐ Land / mobile phones
- ☐ Internet and cable / satellite TV providers

3 1 WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Delivery address – change delivery address of your Cambridge News, milk, groceries and fuel to your new address as appropriate.
- ☐ Laundry – do any last minute laundry that you can – have you arranged for a plumber to disconnect your washing machine correctly?

- ☐ Kitchen cupboards – go through your kitchen cupboards and throw out anything not in date. Also check that all jars and bottles are correctly sealed before packing.

- ☐ Fridges / Freezers – empty and clean out in preparation for moving. If you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

- ☐ Valuables / documents – put these in safe place for moving day

4 2-1 DAYS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – pack a bag for overnight essentials and toiletries and finish all remaining packing into boxes. Remember to label which room each box is destined for.

THANK YOU: Dave and Sarah Gooderham with baby son George and his big brother Darcy

Parents' thank you to hospital

A GRATEFUL family have raised thousands of pounds for the hospital which cared for their premature baby.

Dave and Sarah Gooderham's son George weighed just 4lb 4oz when he was born six weeks too early in February last year.

But the little boy gained weight and strength during the two-and-a-half weeks he spent at West Suffolk Hospital's neonatal unit and he was able to go home.

His mum and dad staged an auction and race night at the Red Lion in Steeple Bumpstead on March 2 which featured a host of sporting collectables and raised £4,400 for the hospital.

Dave said: "From the moment we started organising the George Gooderham Race Night and auction, we have been truly humbled by the support we have received.

"We were blown away by the amount raised and we would just like to say a massive thank you to everyone who helped us achieve such a tremendous sum of money."

The Long Melford family's fundraising total is set to grow even bigger because Dave and seven friends are tackling the three peaks challenge in the summer.

Funds they have raised will help pay for a £60,000 bereavement room at the hospital where families who have lost babies will receive practical and psychological support.

The room will feature a sitting area and an en-suite bedroom where women who have had a miscarriage, a medical termination or whose babies are stillborn can deliver without having to go to the labour suite.

Jan Bloomfield, executive director responsible for fundraising at West Suffolk Hospital, said: "We are extremely grateful to Dave and Sarah for their fantastic fundraising efforts. As well as securing some sought-after collectables for the charity auction, they did an excellent job organising the race night.

"The event was a great success and enjoyed by everyone who went along.

"The money they have raised will go towards our new bereavement suite, which will be a really important facility for parents who sadly lose their babies.

"We would like to thank both Dave and Sarah and everyone who supported this event for their generosity."

To help raise funds for the bereavement suite, call Claire Webb on (01284) 712952.

Woman, 39, admits benefit fraud

A WOMAN claiming benefit who failed to inform the authorities that her working partner was living with her has appeared in court.

Dianne Jobson, 39, admitted two offences committed when she was living at Hundon Place, Haverhill, when she appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates'

Court last Thursday.

Jobson, now of George Lambton Avenue, Newmarket, was given a 12-month conditional discharge and ordered to pay £150 costs.

She admitted charges that between January and September 2011 she failed to give prompt notice to St Edmundsbury Borough Council or the Department for Work and Pensions of her change in circumstances, that her partner, who was in full-time employment, was living with her.

This affected her entitlement to housing and council tax benefit, as well as Employment Support Allowance which she was continuing to claim.

Indian takeaway calls on customers to tuck in

Ridgewell takeaway: Amin's Indian Take Away opened in January.

A NEW Ridgewell takeaway is currying favour with fans of Indian food.

Amin's Indian Take Away opened in January - and it has just been awarded a five-star hygiene rating.

Amin Rahman, the takeaway's chef and owner, is inviting customers into its kitchen to look on as their dinner is cooked.

He said: "The worst thing you can do is hide things from people. I would rather people see how their food is being prepared."

"I always use fresh ingredients. I like people to see what they are getting."

Mr Rahman said he is so sure his lamb is top rate, he will tip it over himself if you disagree.

He said: "My jalfrezi is to die for and I do the best lamb around the area and that you can bank on. If my lamb doesn't melt in your mouth I will stand on the green in Ridgewell and I will wear it. I will throw it over myself - that's how confident I am."

He said the Mill Road takeaway, which has a team of three staff, is aimed at ordinary, hard-working people. He said: "I'm here to sell to everyday people who want to use me. Coming out for a meal is luxury sometimes."

"I try my best to help people as I can."

Originally from Luton, Mr Rahman said the property was an investment and he was also drawn to Ridgewell because of the lovely surroundings and residents. He said: "I think the area is nice and the people are nice - that's why I came down here."

Mr Rahman has been in the restaurant business for 20 years, mostly as a chef but also at the front of house. He said: "It's better to know the trade inside out than know part of it because you are never out of a job."

Customers picking up a meal deal at the takeaway will pay £14.95 for two main dishes, a side dish and a rice and a naan. No discount will apply.

Amin's Indian Take Away is open between 5pm and 10pm from Tuesday to Sunday and deliveries will be made to a five-mile radius.

WRITE STUFF: Pupils working on ideas to produce chapters of the book

Torch book takes tour of schools

CASTLES and spaceships are all part of the story in a new book being created by more than 100 primary school pupils.

The third Torch Book project is under way, with pupils from Place Farm and Burton End Primary Schools in Haverhill and Thurlow Primary School all adding chapters, then passing the book on to the next school.

A total of 110 pupils aged 6 and 7 years are involved and attended at workshop at Haverhill Library, where children's writer James Campbell gave them some tips and wrote the first chapter of the book, entitled 'Nosey the Elephant'.

He went along to Thurlow last week and read this to the year group.

Sandra Bottomley, class teacher said: "The children were all very excited to see James again and immediately began to come up with ideas for developing the story and adding new characters."

"We are looking forward to writing our chapter."

Pleas made over police inspector

THE Police Commissioner has been urged to stop Haverhill's police inspector being taken away for control room duties.

Suffolk's commissioner Tim Passmore attended Monday night's stormy police priority setting meeting in Haverhill, where he said he would respond to concerns raised by members of the public that they wanted to see more police officers in the town.

Mr Passmore said: "It seems to me that you have suffered from not enough members of the constabulary on the ground."

"We need to make sure your police force has enough men in future to do the job. I will take this up with the Chief Constable."

"The number of officers taken to police the nighttime economy in Suffolk is enormous. Ipswich takes five times as much policing on a Saturday night as it does for the rest of the week put together."

"I'm in discussions with the Chief Constable to increase by

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

250 more Specials, as well as more PCSOs. I am determined to make sure you get extra officers in Haverhill, so that there is spare capacity."

Margaret Marks challenged him at the meeting and has since written him a letter on the issue.

She said: "You say you are going to get us more police, but you are taking Peter away from us for six weeks."

Inspector Peter Ferrie confirmed that said he had to work in control at Ipswich because he was one of only two fire armed trained officers in the county able to file the role. He was due to return to Haverhill on April 12.

In her letter Mrs Marks said: "Inspector Ferrie commands enormous respect in the community and is both approachable and effective."

"It is a long time since we have had the level of effective policing and confidence that currently exists and there is great concern that this will be eroded."

"That is not to say that the remaining police are ineffective – far from it – we have an excellent team here in the town but we always seem to be running short on manpower and taking away our lead officer is really unacceptable."

"It does beg the question why you are so short of officers with the relevant capability?"

"I also understood that you had collaborative working with other counties – was there really no other way of covering this shortfall without compromising the fourth largest town in Suffolk?"

"Six weeks is a long time and I would ask please that you consider spreading this load in a different way so that we can have our Inspector back in post as a matter of urgency."

Drivers urged to belt up for seatbelt campaign

POLICE in Suffolk are reminding drivers and passengers to belt up, as officers take part in a week-long enforcement campaign.

Checks will be held until Sunday, aiming to raise awareness of how many injuries and deaths can be prevented by wearing seatbelts.

Drivers and passengers found not wearing seatbelts will be issued fixed penalty notices of £60.

Chief Inspector Chris Spinks said: "Nowadays the majority of vehicles have seatbelts fitted and the value of wearing them is obvious."

"But some people still leave their seatbelt unfastened or don't ensure that their children are secured in the back seat."

"We want to remind people that by not wearing your belt, or not ensuring others in the vehicle are, you are putting your own and others' lives at risk."

In Suffolk in 2012, 10 people who were seriously injured in road traffic collisions were not wearing a seatbelt.

The kick that changed my life

RUNNING MAN: Martin in training for this year's London Marathon

Picture: Warren Gunn 897357

Martin nearly died when a kick from a horse caved his skull into his brain. Four years on, he's not only an elite marathon runner – he says he's a much better man, too. Interview by ALICE RYAN.

BEING wheeled into theatre, his skull smashed in and his face a bruised and bloodied mess, Martin Gear feared he might not come out alive. Kicked twice in the head by a horse, he was facing life-threatening brain surgery.

"When a doctor says to you 'We've got to operate – but there's a chance you won't come out alive', it is a wake-up call," says Martin, with a wry smile.

"The worst thing was saying goodbye to my wife Nicole. She was crying so hard she couldn't even speak. And all I could think was 'Why is this happening now? When I'm doing something good for the first time in my life?'"

Martin's head injury took place just two weeks before he was due to run the 2009 London Marathon. He'd been in training for months and was using the race as a goal – a target for turning his life around.

"I'd never made anything of myself," explains the 30-year-old, who lives in Newmarket. "I didn't want to know at school: I didn't do my academic work, I didn't even play sport. I just drifted, really."

"Living in Newmarket, and having been brought up with horses, I naturally went into horse racing when I left school. I was a typical stable lad: my weekends were spent boozing and I gambled too – I'd gamble almost all my wages."

"It's embarrassing to say this, but things really came to a head when I gambled – and lost – our holiday money. We were going to Egypt the next day and I took £900 down to town to change it up. But I ended up going into the bookies instead. I'd lost the lot in an hour."

"I came home, told Nicole and she went mad. I broke down in tears: I knew I had a problem. And I knew I had to change."

"I decided the first thing to do was get fit. So I joined Newmarket Joggers and started running. I can still remember coming in and saying to Nicole 'Wow! I've run a mile...', which seems really funny now."

"I realised I liked running and I was also quite good at it: it gave me a focus."

The day after competing in his first half-marathon – which he completed in a very respectable one hour and 22 minutes – Martin was going about his usual business at work when he spotted a loose tail string on a horse's rug.

"I was sweeping outside his door when I saw it. It was a horse I knew well, so I didn't think anything of it: he was eating, I went in, I stood beside him and moved to sort out the tail string."

"That was it: bang, bang. He kicked me twice, right in the forehead. All I can remember is lying on the floor of the stable screaming, then saying to the ambulance men 'but I'm supposed to be running the marathon in two weeks'..."

Rushed to Addenbrooke's, Martin's wounds were bathed and stitched and, at first, it appeared the damage was pretty superficial. But scans revealed his forehead had split in two and caved inwards – leaving both bone fragments and air pockets in his brain.

"As I was breathing, the skin on my forehead was going in and out," recalls Martin. "It was after the scan they told us an operation was the only option."

Undergoing seven-and-a-half hours of surgery, Martin's forehead was cut away, the bone fragments and air removed, and his forehead reassembled using a series of nuts and bolts. His nose was also reconstructed and packed with wadding.

"When I came out I looked a real sight: I had all this stuff in my nose, a tube coming out of the top of my head... And they'd had to peel back my skin, cutting from temple to temple along my hairline. So I had all these stitches."

Looking at a sheaf of photographs, showing his face just before and after the op, Martin explains he was so frail after the surgery he couldn't walk, dress or bathe unaided – and even needed help to eat.

"The nerves in my brain got disturbed when they did the surgery, and it takes time for everything to settle down. I couldn't even get a spoonful of custard to my mouth to start with; I just couldn't make my hand and arm move properly.

"But I knew, even then, that I was one of the lucky ones. There was a lad in the opposite bed who'd literally lost half his head in a car crash. It took him 10 minutes just to lean forward and touch a piece of fruit. But every morning he'd slowly move his hand to his mouth and pull the corners into a smile for me."

Being super-fit when he went into surgery meant Martin made a remarkably quick recovery: within 12 days, he was at home. In a matter of weeks, he was back at work.

"The accident happened in the March and we were getting married in the August," he adds. "I stood up at the wedding and said 'Thank you all for being here... because I nearly wasn't.'"

Martin credits Nicole with 'getting me through'. "She's an amazing lady. We met when I was DJ-ing at a club in town. She came up to request a song. I said 'Write it down and, while you're at it, write down your number too'. Three years later we were married; we've been together seven now. She's seen me through it all."

Martin says he emerged from the brain injury a changed man. "I had a bit of a temper before: I was an angry person. I couldn't have sat here like this and just chatted. I couldn't care less about anything, to be quite honest.

"Going through all that made me appreciate my life; appreciate every day."

Deciding he couldn't stay a stable lad forever, Martin changed careers – and landed his dream job as a Newmarket headman. Tending a large section of the town's famous heathland, doing everything from grass mowing to mending fences, he says it's 'a job I genuinely enjoy: a job for life'.

And Martin hadn't given up on his ambition to run the London Marathon: if anything, he was more determined than ever.

"I started training again in the January of 2010, but I got an awful stomach ache... It turned out to be appendicitis."

Another emergency operation followed – the appendix had been on the verge of rupture – but still Martin remained undeterred.

Running in aid of Racing Welfare, the charity which had offered him support in the wake of the accident, Martin finally made it round the London Marathon course in the April of 2010, little over a year after brain surgery. "I cried when I crossed that finish line. It felt like such an achievement."

And Martin wasn't stopping there. He ran two marathons in 2011 – London and Disney Florida – and another, Brighton, last year. "I realised I was getting quite good, and I knew if I could run Brighton in under three hours and 15 minutes, I'd automatically get a place as an elite runner for this year's London Marathon.

"I did it in two hours and 53 minutes, coming 28th out of 14,000. That was such a buzz."

Setting himself a target of two hours 45 minutes for this year's London Marathon, which takes place in April, Martin is part-way through a hardcore training schedule: "Between mid-December and yesterday, March 1, I'd clocked up 550 training miles – and I'll be doing another 300 before the race.

"That's the beauty of running: you know if you work really hard, give it everything, you'll get the results."

To date, Martin has raised an incredible £6,500 in sponsorship, supporting a whole range of charities, including Macmillan, Marie Curie, Great Ormond Street and Children With Cancer. This year he's raising cash for St Nicholas' Hospice in Bury.

Recently winning the Future Champion of Newmarket award, in recognition of his fundraising efforts, Martin is both well-known and well-respected in the town.

"When I look back, I am proud of how far I've come. I've got a great wife, a great job, a sport I love... I've got a great life."

"I see kids hanging about on the street sometimes and think 'I wish I could tell you what I know: life's too short to waste, so knuckle down and make something of yourself'."

"But I'm living proof that it's never too late to make a change."

"I've had a lot of help along the way, but I had to want to do it: you can't help people who won't help themselves."

"I've been through a lot – but I'm stronger for it. I genuinely think it's made me a better man."

Chefs in healthy cooking contest

MINIATURE chefs donned their aprons to cook a healthy curry as part of a national challenge.

Youngsters at Haverhill's Coupals Primary School were tasked with cooking up a korma on Thursdays part of the Let's Get Cooking Big Cookathon 2013.

They were joined for the occasion by little ones from Stepping Stones pre-school and others including teachers, family, members of the emergency services and Haverhill's mayor, Cllr Pat Hanlon.

The 300-odd people aged from 2 to 70 were going head-to-head in the cookathon against hundreds of school and community clubs to win more funding for their groups.

Rob Rees, chef and chair of the Children's Food Trust which leads the Let's Get Cooking network of healthy cooking clubs, said: "Since launching six years ago, Let's Get Cooking has helped more than 2.4 million people improve their cooking skills and the impact it's having at home is huge."

Schools risk losing £5m

SCHOOLS in Suffolk could miss out on £5m of funding a year if parents eligible for free school meals do not sign up.

Under the Government's pupil premium scheme, schools could receive £623 per year for every child who is eligible as their parents are in receipt of certain benefits.

This will increase to £900 in April, however official estimates suggest around 32 per cent of eligible parents in the county have not signed up.

Cllr Graham Newman, Suffolk County Council's cabinet member for education and young people, has pledged the authority's support to help schools and parents make sure Suffolk doesn't miss out.

He said: "It is difficult to overstate just how much of a win-win situation is created when eligible parents claim free school meals for their children.

"Not only do they save money, their children get a hot meal at lunchtime and the school benefits from significant sums of additional money.

"In the present financial climate, this is one way in which we can get additional funds into schools.

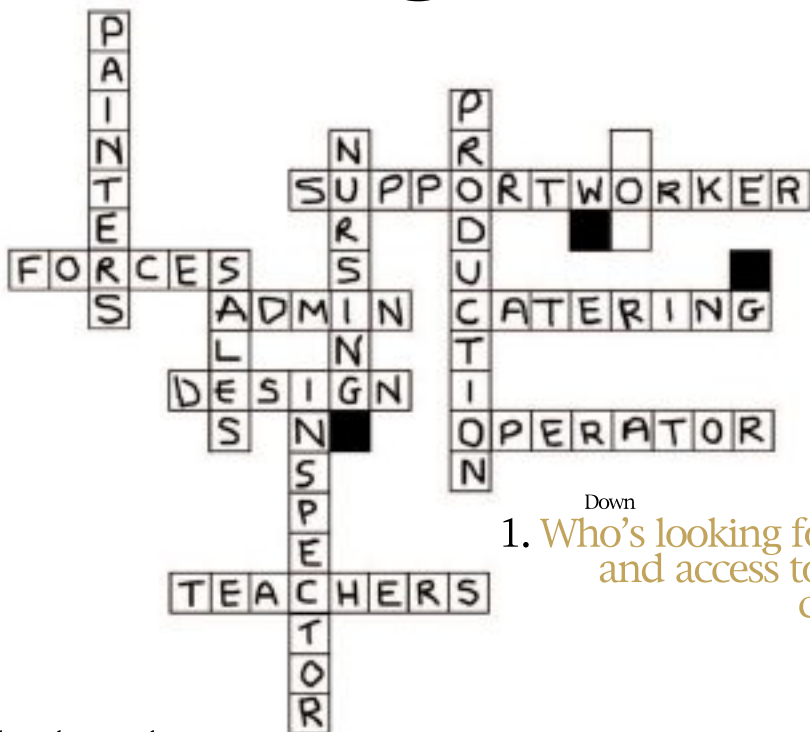

"While we have such a large amount of entitlement unclaimed, our pleas for schools to get more funding go largely unheard."

FINALISTS: Members of the Castle Manor Academy girls cricket team

Cricket girls secure place in final

A GIRLS cricket team has beaten local rivals to win through to the final in its first-ever competition.

The team from Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill first travelled to Newmarket two weeks ago for the district round of the Under-15 Lady Taverners Indoor Cricket Competition.

They returned to Newmarket to overcome strong opposition from County Upper and Thurston teams to win the regional match.

They will make a third trip to Newmarket today for the county final against teams from all over the Anglian region.

This was the first time the Academy has fielded a girls cricket team, with impressive performances in their first match against Newmarket.

Captain Emma Ellis got the innings off to an impressive start, but was run out for 11, bringing Karolina Hryszko to the crease.

Newmarket fielded well and after a middle order collapse, Sophie Carter-Miller joined Karolina in a last-wicket stand of 26 runs. Castle Manor Academy finished 91 for 7.

After superb opening overs from Sian Tatum and Catrina Nunes, good fielding ensured that Newmarket collapsed to 26 all out.

Teacher Rob Dovaston said: "Despite having only had a few training sessions, the girls showed great enthusiasm and effort, along with plenty of skill."

"We will continue to train hard and hope to grow the success of girls cricket in the town, in partnership with Haverhill Cricket Club."

Care scheme at recycling centre

LIFESAVING defibrillators and training to use them is being given to staff at the household waste recycling centres across Suffolk.

The scheme covers 11 sites, including one in Haverhill, which had a total of one million visitors last year.

It is part of a ground-breaking partnership between FCC Environment – the company which manages the sites – Suffolk County Council and the East of England Ambulance Service.

Each of the sites are provided with lifesaving automatic defibrillators to treat people who suffer a cardiac arrest, after which the chance of survival decreases by 23 per cent per minute.

The UK Resuscitation Council suggests a defibrillator should be available wherever medical treatment is more than five minutes away.

Cllr Lisa Chambers, cabinet member for environment and property management at Suffolk County Council, said: "I am really pleased that we have been able to provide the household waste recycling centres with these lifesaving devices and the training for the staff to be able to use them safely.

"Our sites are very safe but, with the numbers of people using the service, we feel that it is important to provide the best care we can for our customers."

Jason Gillingham of the East of England Ambulance Service said: "Being able to quickly get a lifesaving defibrillator to a person who suffers a cardiac arrest along with someone trained to use it and carry out some basic resuscitation is key to being able to help restart a patient's heart."

"We are pleased to be able to work with Suffolk County Council and FCC Environment on this project, as increasing the number of defibrillators in public places will help improve cardiac arrest survival rates across the region."

Plenty of surprises

BRITAIN'S most prolific playwright ventures into sci-fi territory in his latest venture, Surprises – a typically insightful study of love and life with a time travel twist.

Who is the amorous stranger, Titus, who materialises in young Grace's bedroom? Can she believe he is who he says he is?

For her parents, Franklin and Martha, does love everlasting still hold true if death is postponed indefinitely?

Can lawyer, Lorraine, who prides herself on her infallibility, have finally discovered the ideal partner, one who is also never wrong?

And will lonely secretary Sylvia, after unhappy affairs with everyone from deep sea divers and space shuttle pilots, ever find her Mr Right?

All these questions will be answered in a play "about love stories that are yet to happen in a future full of surprises".

Sir Alan Ayckbourn CBE has written and produced more than 70 full-length plays, including such legendary hits as Relatively Speaking, Absurd Person Singular, The Norman Conquests and Bedroom Farce.

The Guide caught up with the 73-year-old to find out more about his latest acclaimed success.

He said: "I've described it as a play with its head in the future, but with its heart in the past."

"Surprises is essentially several love stories but love stories that have a spin on them."

"It's science-fiction but used as an allegory – as most good sci-fi is – to reflect what's happening today and the issues I've picked up on recently."

"To put it in a nutshell, it's about what might happen with longevity."

"I've been reading a lot of articles recently about the strain the increasing elderly population is going to put on the National Health Service."

"The chances of people living longer and longer as the centuries go by are increasingly plausible and certainly quite interesting dramatically."

"Most of you can already be replaced – although I think the brain will be the last thing it will be possible to replace – but practically everything else is fast becoming a spare part!"

"I have a character in the play who's 120 years old and say 'I've just seen my doctor for a check-up and he says if I take good care of myself, I probably have another good 60 years.'"

"He's already retired twice, had several lifetimes and doesn't know what to do next."

"If we're not able to plan our lives for the long term, we are going to be in that situation, which will pose some interesting problems."

"The play also asks what happens to relationships when this longevity happens. Most relationships – never mind marriages – are based on a life expectancy of three score years and 10."

"So what happens when both of you live to twice that age? Can you sustain that relationship?"

■ Surprises, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday at 7.34pm (Thurs/Sat mats 2.30pm). Tickets £15-30 from (01223) 503 333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

Love is timeless

Where ADC Theatre
When to March 23
Tickets £8-12

VERDI'S iconic love story of Aida – as retold by Elton John and Tim Rice – comes to the ADC Theatre this week in a new production of the Broadway musical by Cambridge University Amateur Dramatic Club.

With a stylised approach inspired by opera, physical theatre and the circus, the show explores musical influences from modern reggae to gospel and African music, alongside a variety of Elton John classics including Written in the Stars.

"The show was advertised in its original run as 'a timeless love story,'" says director Atri Banerjee.

"We're taking that word 'timeless' and pushing it to its extreme, locating the show in a world of abstraction and magic realism. We're opening the musical up, like a pop-up storybook."

Despite enjoying a hugely successful long Broadway run that won four Tony Awards, Aida is little known in this country and has never been professionally staged in the UK.

As one of the highlights of the spring season at the ADC Theatre, the country's oldest University Playhouse, Aida represents a huge collaborative project by students of Cambridge University.

"It's very exciting to be working with such a talented and dedicated group," says producer Adam Smith.

"They're all giving up their lives for the next eight weeks and juggling this alongside studying for their degrees. We couldn't have hoped for a more enthusiastic team!"

The Aida company will also be running a selection of workshops aimed at local children and teenagers, encouraging them to engage with the show and discover more about the backstage world of the ADC Theatre. ■ Aida, ADC Theatre, until Saturday, March 23 at 7.45pm (Sat matinees 2.30pm). Tickets £8-12. Contact: (01223) 300085 / www.adctheatre.com.

WELCOME TO THE PUNCH

JAMES McAvoy and Mark Strong face off as ruthless men on opposite sides of the law in Eran Creevy's heavily stylised crime thriller shot on location in London.

Max Lewinsky (McAvoy) is an inexperienced yet ambitious detective who attempts to single-handedly take down notorious criminal Jacob Sternwood (Strong) and his gang.

The subsequent shootout leaves Max badly injured, nursing not just physical injuries but permanent scarring to his confidence. He becomes addicted to painkillers, hoping that one day he might be given a second chance to put Jacob behind bars.

Many years later Jacob's son Ruan (Elyes Gabel) is involved in a bungled heist and the elusive criminal is lured out of hiding to seek revenge.

Max seizes the chance to hunt down his arch-nemesis, creating friction with police chief Thomas Geiger (David Morrissey) and fellow detective Sarah Hawks (Andrea Riseborough).

Max and Jacob orbit one another and the two men gradually realise that they are embroiled in a deeper and deadlier conspiracy.

To crack the case wide open, hunter and hunted must do the unthinkable – work together.

Wisdom of Walkden

by Hannah Stephenson

GROWING veg on your patio couldn't be easier – you can control the soil type, the situation and the watering, often providing shelter near the house when it's needed.

Yet some gardeners are put off by the idea of unsightly veg taking up valuable flower space in pots on the patio.

But they shouldn't worry, says TV and radio gardening expert Christine Walkden.

Walkden may be the wrong person to ask about pretty veg because she finds all veg plants beautiful, she admits.

"I see beauty in a cabbage! A beautiful dense cabbage head in a classic terracotta pot is just as attractive as the non-edible ornamental sorts."

Some of her patio planting ideas are featured in her new book, Christine Walkden's No-nonsense Container Gardening.

Best of the bunch: Helleborus.

In it, she features fabulously ornamental purple kale in brightly coloured plastic trugs, lime-green lettuce in a bubblegum pink metal bucket, leafy veg in wooden crates and a hanging basket made out of an old metal colander.

There are colourful flowers in old food tins and shopping baskets, a rock garden planted inside a vintage pram and other quirky ideas.

Expert advice: Christine Walkden.

But veg also win a place in the looks department, she says.

"Kale is a hardy brassica that you can go on picking right through winter and it looks great in containers. Striking red stems and leaf veins make beetroot plants attractive enough to grow in among flowers."

For those who love colour, you can't go far wrong with beans, she says.

"Runner beans are ideal because you've got all the different flowers, the whites, the bi-colours and the pinks. "Black Tuscan kale is great to grow to add interest in the winter, and ferny-leaved and coloured-leaved lettuces are also great.

"Now, we have so much diversity in leaf shape in salads, from the spoon-shapes of lamb's ears to the really frizzy stuff that's available. It's breathtaking."

Lettuce can be grown in any pot, but where it really scores is in shallow, saucer-shaped troughs, where other veg would need deeper soil to survive.

Walkden grows lettuces all year round in seed trays, because that's all the soil which is required, she says.

"As long as you've got 2in of soil, you can grow cut-and-come-again salad leaves. A lot of gardeners hate shallow containers because they dry out so quickly, but lettuce will cope with the occasional drought. They will tolerate the heat generated in the container and the root run."

To make a window box containing edibles look pretty, plant lettuces, radishes (place them behind because they have pretty foliage), spring onions or chives, and small beetroot such as 'Boltardi', with its spectacular red foliage, she suggests.

Climbing beans have long been grown around wigwams but you can grow dwarf varieties in regular plant pots.

"There are a lot of good varieties now that you can grow in window boxes and containers," says Walkden, who will be mentor to the winning amateur designer of a BBC and RHS competition to create The One Show family garden at Hampton Court Palace Flower Show in July.

"Mix veg in with your flowers as well," she suggests.

"The ferny leaves of carrots make a fantastic edging to a container. We tend to categorise things, but at the end of the day, they are all just plants."

Walkden believes that great plant companions are those which contrast well.

"I go for things like chives, with vertical growth, contrasting well with the dark reds of kales and beetroot.

"Daisy-like flowers including osteospermums, argyranthemums, coreopsis and calendulas all contrast well with veg."

Nasturtiums, in shades of orange, yellow and red, are often grown as a sacrificial crop to lure blackfly away from more precious plants, but the flowers make a colourful, faintly spicy addition to salads and look wonderful draping over the edge of containers in front of taller plants.

Follow her advice and soon enough you could have patio plants which not only look good but taste good too.

Drive Vauxhall joy at top customer award

STAFF at local car retailer, Drive Vauxhall, are celebrating after being presented with a highly-coveted Vauxhall Customer Excellence Award.

The yearly award by the British manufacturer recognises and rewards top performing retailers for the quality of service they give to their customers, using only customer satisfaction as the judging criteria.

To celebrate this special accolade, general manager Sarah Ferrari and her team were presented with their Customer Excellence Award at the Haverhill dealership.

Sarah Ferrari at Drive Vauxhall comments: "We're delighted with this achievement and would like to thank all of our customers for representing us in such a positive light in Vauxhall's satisfaction surveys."

"When a customer visits

our dealership, they can feel confident that they will be receiving truly dedicated customer service. Indeed, as we are so committed to customer care, we'll be doing our very best to ensure that we score even higher next year."

The retailer in Suffolk was one of the 66 Vauxhall retailers in the country to have the highest and most impressive combined scores from Vauxhall's Purchase Satisfaction and Service Satisfaction surveys, calculated at the end of 2012.

Customers are invited to take part in both surveys after they buy a new Vauxhall and after they get their vehicle serviced for the first or second time. More than 129,000 responses were collected by Vauxhall last year, helping to generate an accurate and long-term picture of customer experience.

David Doublett, Vauxhall

head of customer care operations for the UK and Ireland, comments: "At Vauxhall, we recognise that Drive Vauxhall has gone that extra mile to help our customers and make their purchasing and servicing experiences as positive as possible; the award really is a representation of the hard work that's gone into their consistent standards and all round high performance."

To recognise their outstanding effort, the retailer was presented with a plaque to display at the dealership in February and a special logo has been placed next to their name in the Vauxhall dealer locator, in addition to receiving commemorative badges for all staff.

For details of the award and upcoming car launches including the Cascada, pictured above, please visit www.drivevauxhall.co.uk.

It's Grey's day with bumper try haul

HAVERHILL under-sevens travelled to Royston in freezing temperatures and, with only one side to field, they played three very tough games in near-blizzard conditions against three separate teams from the host club, winning all three.

They took everything that was thrown at them with determination and commitment to beat Royston C 50-35, Royston B 55-45 and the hosts' A string 60-40.

Ewan Grey Action from Haverhill under-sevens' trip to Royston raced through the home defence to score 14 tries during the morning, playing on despite a split lip and minor nose bleed. Angus Duckworth showed his skills in scoring 12 times throughout the games.

Amelia Grey scored her debut try for the club – running from the halfway line, dodging and side-stepping the Royston defence.

> Golf: Haverhill GC round-up

DENISE Walker and Sheila Playle lifted the Ladies' Winter Foursomes at Haverhill Golf Club.

In an event where teams comprise one high and one low handicap per pair, Walker and Playle beat Sally Price and Gill Richardson 5&4. All the pairs that were knocked out in the first round went into the Cinderella Slipper, and Doreen Darbey and Chris Grainger triumphed on the 19th hole against Val Shipp and Mary Sail.

Lyn Fish was first in the Ladies Midweek Medal with nett 69, three clear of Jackie Condon – whose 88 was the lowest gross round. Price was third with nett 74.

In the Ladies Saturday Medal, Jackie Condon was first with nett 72, nine ahead of Fish. Jane Herrington was third with 83.

Eamonn Bareham and Mich Calmet were beaten by Royston in the first round of the Men's Daily Mail Foursomes, losing 3&2.

Mick Dalena was the overall winner of the Men's Midweek Medal, taking Division One with nett 67, one better than Jonathan Wiseman. Mike Bennett won Division One with nett 70, one clear of Wayne Penman. And in Division Three, Grant Kingston was first with nett 72, four better than Paul Mower.

Haverhill were beaten 9-2 by The Essex in the first round of the Mail on Sunday.

Club captain Gordon Price said: "It was a very close match throughout, which went all the way to the least game on the last hole and unfortunately we lost 3-2.

"The Essex team played very well, especially as they were not on home ground, however Haverhill had to give shots in four of the five games and could not get far enough in front to cope with giving a shot on the 17th hole."

Hosts prove too strong for Haverhill

WITH a squad of just 10, some battling with illness, Haverhill II travelled to take on their Lowestoft counterparts in a Suffolk League, Premier Division match on Saturday.

The visitors were fully expecting a tough game against mid-table opposition. And so it proved as Lowestoft ran out 8-1 winners.

Haverhill kept Lowestoft at bay for a while, but it was the hosts who found the net first.

However, Kim Thomas soon

equalised with some skilful play.

That was as good as it got for Haverhill, who trailed 4-1 at half-time.

The visitors battled hard in the second period, but their lack of players took its toll as Lowestoft scored a further four goals.

Haverhill, whose player of the match was Helen Salter, now have the games and need to pick up a few more points to avoid relegation.

They are at home to Harwich on Saturday, 10am.

■ Tom Wakely and Sam Logan fired Aztecs' goals in their 4-2 defeat to Foxton in Cambridgeshire Mini League, Division 11B.

Kerr and Hirst make the grade

Belters: Elisabeth Kerr and Connor Hirst.

ELISABETH Kerr and Connor Hirst of Saffron Walden and Haverhill Shotokan Karate Club attained their Black Belts Shodan (1st Level) at the club's recent grading.

Both Kerr and Hirst were put through rigorous tests of karate combination moves (Kihon), pre-arranged attacks and defences (Kumite) and set moves in a set order (Kata).

To finish the physical side, they had to free-fight with three different people.

Then came the theory part of the grading when they were asked to give a brief history of karate, parts of the body (in Japanese) and the major bones of the body and finally explain the Dojo Kun (training hall code) and what it meant to them.

The club meets at Saffron Walden County High Sports Centre and Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill. For more information, contact Gill Payne on 01440 708365.

Out of reach: Haverhill's Carl Anderson fails to intercept a line-out. CP

Hunt try gives leaders a fright

LEADERS Swaffham soon learned that Haverhill were not about to lie down meekly when, after just two minutes, a huge double tackle by Michael Lansdowne and Martin Hughes led to the visitors spilling the ball.

A cleverly weighted kick forward released Adam Hunt, who gathered and then ran 75 metres to score in the corner. The conversion missed.

A quick Swaffham penalty on 10 minutes saw Haverhill pull out the stops to defend, but an overlap allowed the visitors' winger to score a converted try.

Haverhill remained determined to harry the league leaders at every opportunity, with Lansdowne unsettling the opposition at will.

On 20 minutes, a Lansdowne turnover ball was knocked on by

Haverhill 5 Swaffham 19

DIVISION TWO

Haverhill and the resulting ball from the scrum allowed the other Swaffham winger to cross in the corner for a converted try.

Haverhill then broke 30 metres out with Lansdowne dragging three players with him to set up a ruck, but bad handling by the hosts let Swaffham in.

At this point, Hunt was helped off the pitch and replaced by Chris Boyle.

With five minutes to go to the break, Swaffham crossed the Haverhill line, only to see the referee to rule out the score for a forward pass.

Hunt returned for a short while, but replaced at half time by Boyle, who soon put in a crunching tackle and did not get up.

He was taken to hospital with a badly broken nose and was replaced by Joe Brown.

Swaffham tried hard to break through the Haverhill defence, but were kept at bay by the impressive Mike Woods, ably supported by Brown and Brad Gibson.

On 65 minutes, the pressure finally told as Swaffham crossed for an unconverted try to make it 19-5.

Haverhill continued to unsettle the visitors by camping in their 22-metre line for the last 15 minutes, but they were unlucky not to cross the whitewash again.

All the Haverhill team played their part in a good performance with the man-of-the-match accolade going to Lansdowne.

Wilkinson hits the target in Haverhill draw

Godmanchester Rovers 1
Haverhill Rovers 1
THURLOW NUNN LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

JACK Wilkinson's second-half equaliser ensured Haverhill returned from Godmanchester with a point to show for their efforts on Wednesday night.

Haverhill started the game well but were unable to make their possession count as the home side took the lead.

The visitors reasserted themselves in the second half and finally got the goal they needed when Wilkinson netted.

Godmanchester began to look more threatening as the half went on but in the end both sides had to settle for a point.

On Saturday, a mad 15-minute spell in the first half cost Haverhill as they suffered a 3-0 home defeat to Gorleston.

Rovers started the game well but three goals in 15 minutes effectively ended their hopes of getting anything out of the game.

The home side improved in the second half but were unable to find a way past the Gorleston defence.

"For about 15 to 20 minutes of that first half we were absolutely dreadful," said Rovers boss Kieron Hammatt.

"In the second half we were much better and a lot more organised but at 3-0 down it was an uphill struggle."

University of Essex 4
Haverhill Sports Association 2
KENT BLAXILL ESSEX & SUFFOLK BORDER LEAGUE,
PREMIER DIVISION

DESPITE a brave second-half performance, HSA fell to their first away league defeat of the season.

After a fairly open first 15 minutes the game exploded into life as the hosts scrambled home from six yards and the lead was doubled as an excellent team move was finished off in style.

The action continued as both Ryan Weaver and the home keeper were dismissed following a scuffle.

After the break, Harry Halls hauled HSA back into the game with a penalty after handball and it looked like their pressure would lead to an equaliser.

However, HSA were caught on the break, Liam Cutts made a great save from the initial effort but could not get to the rebound.

Craig Cutts brought the score back to 3-2 as he finished a goal-mouth melee.

However, the hosts finished off the game with five minutes remaining through a free kick from the edge of the box.
